Presidents' Note

Hello Members!

As much as we all love summer, it's a busy time for everyone -- including the Governor Wentworth Arts Council.

August saw a very successful Artists in the Park. Evaluations from most participants said that this was a fabulous show for them. A few raindrops during set-up didn't dampen spirits, attendance was strong, and sales were brisk. Thanks to Debbie Hopkins and the AIP team for another great year.

We also had a 'first' at Artists in the Park this year: a GWAC Member Tent. With each member having the chance to display two pieces of work for sale, we had a varied array, and several members tallied sales during the day.

Visitors were encouraged to vote for their GWAC favorite. Photographer Robert Grassi netted a $50 prize for having his photo of the Pop Whalen marsh voted the tent favorite. Thanks to TAG Coordinator DJ Geribo for spearheading this effort, and thanks, too, to all the volunteers who staffed the tent.

And the GWAC fun didn't stop in August. We rolled right into September with Paint the Town. Some 20 artists set up their easels downtown, along the lakeshore or on one of Wolfeboro's scenic walking trails. This -- our third annual -- was part of "Paint Out", a worldwide weekend of outdoor painting.

An upcoming fall event, Just Desserts, supports a great cause: Governor Wentworth Arts Council's Visual Arts Scholarship. What could be better than eating your fill of yummy desserts, listening to fabulous music and doing good -- all at the same time!

While you're relaxing after a busy summer and early fall, start thinking about which piece of your artwork you want to display at our Annual Members' Reception & Exhibit at the Wolfeboro Public Library. November 4th will be here before you know it!

Enjoy the fall!

Nancy Piper and Andrea Dudley

Individual Art Lessons with DJ Geribo

If you have always wanted to paint but felt you "couldn't draw a straight line" then this is the class for you. If you have been intimidated by joining a workshop where everyone else seems to be so much more talented than you, take a class with DJ Geribo in the privacy of her studio where you are the only student. If you don't know which medium you want to paint but would like to try a few without buying all the supplies, you can take a class with DJ Geribo and try pastels, water-soluble oils, acrylics, or watercolors without purchasing all the supplies to find out if you like a medium or not.

DJ Geribo paints mostly nature, animals, and still life and will share her techniques and experience with you for $25 an hour. The first class is 90 minutes with the first 30 minutes free as she learns about you and what you want to accomplish in her class.

To find out more about DJ Geribo and see some of her artwork, go to her website, www.DJGeribo.com. Contact DJ, email: DJ@DJGeribo.com or call 603.875.0066.

GWAC-TAG Fall Schedule

The Artists Group (TAG) has just changed the artwork around town at Huggins Hospital and Granite State News. The Meredith Village Savings Bank (MVSBS) schedule is back to having two artists show their work for a 2-month duration. We currently have artists scheduled to show their work through December. If you are interested in showing your work for Jan/Feb, Mar/Apr, or May/June 2013 at MVSBS, please contact me at DJ@DJGeribo.com or 603.875.0066.

All work is juried at all locations. Send images of your work or call to arrange for your artwork to be considered by the jury committee. Remember to check out the new work on display at Huggins Hospital and Granite State News and stop by to see the two artists on display for September and October at MVSBS: DJ Geribo and Ruth Willett.

Pam Grady will have a pastel on exhibition at the Rockport Art Assoc. in Rockport, MA. in their Fall Show from Sept. 30 to Nov.11, 2012.

Debbie Hopkins and Elissa Paquette will join demonstrators and exhibitors for the Remick Museum's Harvest Festival on Saturday, September 29, from 11am. to 3pm. Debbie will offer children a chance to play with clay and will also premiere her new collection of pottery yarn bowls. Elissa will have her nature photo note cards and prints for sale. No reservations required; all ages welcome; $5pp for members.

GWAC Events - In Review

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 2012 (rain date Sept. 22)

Downtown Wolfeboro in Cate Park

"Paint the Town" is an opportunity for artists to paint scenes of "Wolfeboro, The Jewel of Lake Winnepesaukee™" Views of the mountains, the lake and the quaint community "the Oldest Summer Resort in America" await plein aire painters for the day.

The cool breezy sunny day began at 9:30am with coffee and muffins as 16 artists registered at the Community Bandstand in lovely Cate Park on the waterfront. Yellow t-shirts worn by participants were spotted all over the town. Instant purchases were possible at "take away prices" until 3:00pm. Then at 3:30, a Silent Auction began in the Bandstand with all the paintings for sale from that day. (This is a fundraiser for the Governor Wentworth Arts Council with proceeds of 60% to the artists and 40% to GWAC.) Cheers to co-chairs Madelyn Albee and Debbie Hopkins for coordinating a wonderful day!

from Debbie Hopkins

The 33rd "Artists in the Park" closed with reported great attendance and some really good sale numbers. "Despite a tough set-up as the heavens opened up on us," Debbie Hopkins added, "by nine o'clock it began to clear and everyone was ready for business, albeit a little damp!" The Mouse Ladies had their ears on and their ink pad ready for little fingerprints; Robin Cornwell had a lovely rug she was weaving on a home-made loom; and in the afternoon the puppet show entertained from the bandstand and Peter Ferber had an attentive audience to watch him paint his latest watercolor. Di Simpson hawked the raffle item, a blue platter donated by Doug Blum and won by a Meredith resident.

For the first time there was a GWAC Member's tent with members bringing two framed pieces for hanging and two more for the bin. Included in the display was pottery, wood and photography. Debbie sold two pottery vases, Di Simpson a collage photo, Ken Alger a Loon photo, and Bob Grassi won the "favorite of show". It was a popular tent and there will be plans made to continue it.

As to the exhibitors, quality and originality was still the criteria. Among the off-beat and original was a jeweler who strings Lucite beads (now antique items), to elephant dung paper (there is really a reason for this!), to lovely flowers made from cereal box cardboard, to painted gourds as fish, animals, and people, and jewelry and mirrors from birch-bark. The fine artists held with our expectations, but we lost a couple due to the weather. The volunteers and BAILEY'S muffins won high praise on the exhibitor's questionnaires. "The location is beautiful, the volunteers plentiful and helpful, and the public is appreciative and receptive, making this an easy show for a single exhibitor to do," to quote one exhibitor.

Printmaking in the Age of Rembrandt

Organized by the Currier Museum of Art . . . September 29, 2012 - January 6, 2013

Printmaking in the Age of Rembrandt will feature prints and etchings by more than a dozen artists including Rembrandt van Rijn (1606-1669) and his contemporaries Hendrick Goltzius (1558-1617) and Jan Dirkszoon Both (1618-1652). Goltzius had a profound influence on Rembrandt, the artist known as the towering genius of Western art, a master of light and shadow whose 17th-century Dutch paintings, drawings and prints have placed him among the greatest creative talents of all time. Goltzius' prints are respected for their ingenious storytelling, technical mastery and inventive figural compositions such as his rendering of a model military officer in The Captain of the Infantry. His ten prints depicting the Passion of Christ are a high watermark of visual story telling. Historically, prints are important because their relative affordability provided the middle class with an opportunity to acquire fine works of art, while also providing working artists with an avenue of steady income. Prints are more easily transported than framed paintings, which helped transmit revolutionary artistic ideas from one country to another.

Weatherbeaten: Winslow Homer and Maine

September 22 – December 30, 2012

To celebrate the opening of the newly renovated Winslow Homer Studio at Prouts Neck, the Portland Museum of Art presents Weatherbeaten: Winslow Homer and Maine. This extraordinary exhibition showcases 38 masterpieces that the great American artist Winslow Homer (1836-1910) created during the final decades of his life, when he lived and worked in Maine. Inspired by the rugged beauty and changeable weather along the coast at Prouts Neck, Homer painted powerful marine narratives and seascapes that capture the specificity of place with vivid intensity, while also investigating existential themes of life and death, of humankind's relationship with the natural world. Highly admired for their originality and sense of authenticity, these paintings helped to establish an iconic image of the New England coast in the national imagination—one that endures to the present day. Weatherbeaten provides a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to explore the range and complexity of Homer's most critically acclaimed works. The featured paintings, watercolors, and etchings are drawn from private collections and museums throughout the country—including the Art Institute of Chicago, the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts (Philadelphia), the Smithsonian American Art Museum (Washington, D.C.), and the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute (Williamstown, Massachusetts). The Portland Museum of Art is the only venue for this important exhibition.

NOTE: SPECIAL COST FOR THIS TOUR: Winslow Homer Studio Tours The Winslow Homer Studio, one of the most significant locations in the history of American art, is where the great American artist Winslow Homer (1836-1910) lived and painted many of his masterpieces from 1883 until his death. Tours of the Studio depart from and return to the Portland Museum of Art by van and are limited to 10 visitors. Fall Tours: September 25 through December 2, 2012 and Spring Tours: April 2 through June 14, 2013. Tickets are $55, $30 for members. For tickets, please call (207) 775-6148.
